Kansas City Section of Society of Women Engineers to host computer camp

Kansas City, MO, August 15, 2001 – The Kansas City Section of the Society of Women Engineers (SWE) is planning a computer camp for twenty under-privileged middle-school girls in the metro area. The camp will provide girls with the opportunity for hands-on computer experience and encourage them to pursue engineering and technology careers. The program is designed to demonstrate to middle-school girls that they possess skills needed for a technical career and provide them a base of confidence in that arena.

Funding for the computer camp comes from the Region VII Women’s Bureau of the Department of Labor and from a grant to SWE from Microsoft Corporation. The camp will be held in late September with students identified through local school district partners.
